Gangstalking and Targeted Individuals

By: Cody Zoschak and Kevin D. Reyes

'Targeted individuals' (TIs) are self-identified individuals who believe they are victims of constant group stalking, monitoring, and harassment (i.e. "gangstalking") by shadowy adversaries, most commonly government agents. TIs generally believe that these adversaries use physical surveillance as well as fantastic forms of electronic surveillance such as microwave technology.

TIs have committed at least four mass shootings or acts of violence in the United States since 2013. While a number of TIs have harassed family members or other acquaintances, the delusions held by TIs have led them to target strangers on several occasions, most notably the 2013 Navy Yard shooting which killed 12 people.

The link between mental illness and violence is not unique to TIs, but they are distinguished by the degree to which they congregate and organize on online platforms. These communities are insular and serve to reinforce their delusions. This also creates the risk that social media groups affiliated with TIs could be exploited by extremist groups for their own agendas.

¿En serio no le huele a nadie a mierda descomunal este escrito? Porque lo es.

Un TI es una ser humano torturado las 24 horas
lineales del día, los 7 días de la semana, todos los días del año. Y será así durante toda su vida.
Porque en algún momento fue añadido a un programa. Consultar MKUltra, que fue descubierto por casualidad. Pero los actuales aun son secretos.

Hay mucha literatura. Demasiada. Pero hay que leerla. Contrastarla con otras. Analizarla. Y entender la mierda real en la que vivimos inmersa. Y este escrito es una basura desde el primer momento.
